

Photos by G. Maeda

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

Photos by G. Maeda

Photos by G. Maeda

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

Photos by G. Maeda

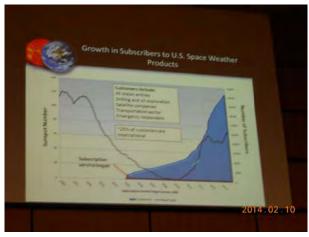

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

Photos by G. Maeda

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

Photos by G. Maeda

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

Photos by G. Maeda

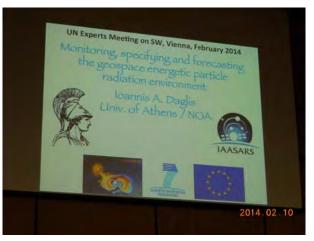

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

Photos by G. Maeda

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

Photos by G. Maeda

Development of space weather in Japan Were there are not as a series between Development of space weather in Japan Were there are not as a series between Development of space weather in Japan Were there are not as a series between Development of space weather in Japan Were there are not as a series between Development of space weather in Japan Development of space weather

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

10-11 Feb 2014

Photos by G. Maeda

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

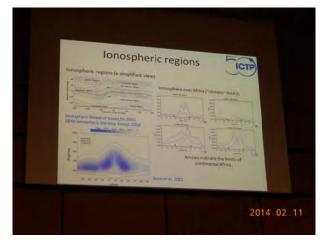

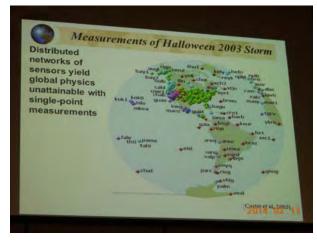

Photos by G. Maeda

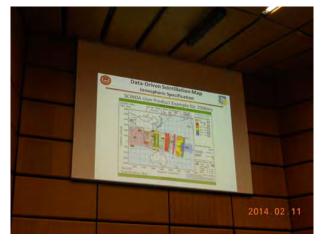

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

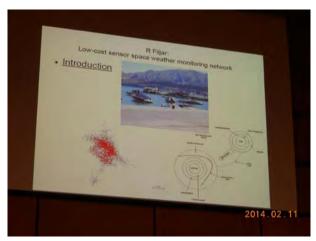

=) Historical Measurements Geomagnetic Storm of March 1989 Single point measurements from faraday rotation of signals from geostationary satellites

GPS Satellite Signals for Space Weather Monitoring/Research - not without problems Space Weather has impacts forizontal DGPS and WAAS on GPS: cen Storms 200 · Reduced accuracy - position errors due to large gradients Reduced availability and continuity due to loss of lock. cycle slips and scintillation •Reduced integrity?

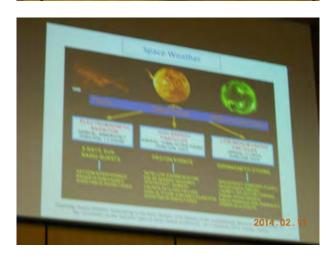

Photos by G. Maeda

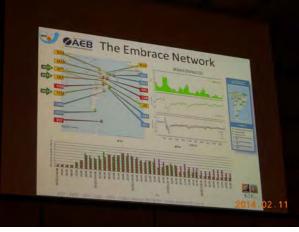

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

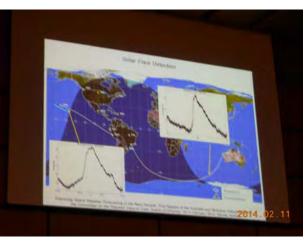

Photos by G. Maeda

Photos by G. Maeda

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria

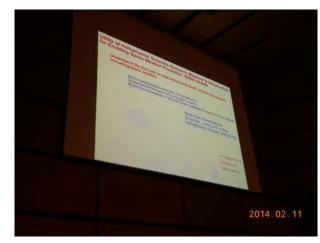

These photos were taken by George Maeda of ICSWSE (pronounced "Iku Sei") of Kyushu University in Japan. Original jpg files (no more than 3) are available upon request.

Events such as this one are covered by the ISWI Newsletter. Please subscribe to it. Method can be found at ISWI website of: www.iswi-secretariat.org GM (14 Feb 2014, Vienna)

Photos by G. Maeda

Venue: UN Office at Vienna, Austria